Interesting Insights

“Empowering India through quality education”- is the catch of all state-ment made in the report of the committee for evolution of new national policy on education 2016. Earlier, national policy on education 1968 called for a "radical restructuring" and equality in educational opportunities in order to achieve national integration and greater cultural and economic development. Then national policy on education 1986 placed a greater emphasis on “the removal of disparities and to equalize educational opportunity,” for socially disadvantaged group. A clear articulation of objectives of education in contemporary Indian context was necessary to improve the education sector that caters to over 300 million students in the country. New policy intended to recognize the role of education in social, economic and political transformation. The main objectives of education in future should include four essential components – i.e. building values, awareness, knowledge and skills. It should enable our children and youth to become world citizens, with their roots deeply embedded in Indian culture and traditions. The present seminar is a conscious effort to explore new horizons within the landscape drawn by new national policy on education.
